

ABSTRACT

- An initial form definition includes one or more custom tags identifying the input field(s) for a form and restriction(s) on inputs to those field(s). An output form definition is generated based on the initial form definition, the
- 5 output form definition including each of these one or more custom tags as converted to another tag format as well as the validation code corresponding to the indicated restriction(s) on input.